Two Elementary East students, now in sixth grade, scored perfect in the math section of the PSSA exam they took in March of last year. Connor Mailen and Tyler Armillay were astonished when they learned the results.

"I was actually really surprised because I didn't think I could do that good," said Connor, 11.

He said their fifth-grade teacher, Nicole Brennan, spoke to their class about the importance of the PSSA test and encouraged them to study. Tyler, 12, said he was just as shocked at the results.

"Nobody did it ever in the school's history at Riverside East, so for me and Connor ... it was the first time, and we were from the same class," he said.

"This has never been done by any other students. It truly is an outstanding accomplishment for the boys," Mrs. Brennan said.
